IT is a popular belief among non-Catholics that Catholics are not allowed to read the Bible. The present truth is that, during the war years, there were hardly any Bibles available in this country for Catholics, all the plates having been destroyed by enemy action. Now, however, we are back to our pre-war stocks, and we have plenty of Bibles for all.

POPE PIUS XII writes in his encyclical letter, Divino Afflante : “ Christ, the Author of Salvation, will be better known, more ardently loved, more faithfully imitated by men, in so far as they are moved by an earnest desire to know and meditate upon the Sacred Scriptures, especially the New Testament.

In his Foreword to the Scripture Text Book Series for Schools, His Eminence Cardinal Griffin, Archbishop of Westminster, says :—

“ It is our fervent hope that through the study of the books the children will be encouraged to read the Scriptures themselves. So many people are taught all about the Scriptures but few are taught to read them.”

FATHER HUGH POPE in his book, The Catholic Church and the Bible, says :—“ The English-speaking peoples were once famous as readers and lovers of the Bible . . . If the pages which follow do anything to orientate such minds afresh and show them that there is no need to lose faith in the Bible once it is restored to its true anchorage, they will have achieved something despite their many imperfections.”

THE HOLY BIBLE

Translated from the Latin Vulgate and diligently compared with other editions in divers languages (Douai A.D. 1609 ; Rheims A.D. 1582) published as revised and annotated by authority.

This edition contains Bishop Challoner's notes, newly compiled indices, tables and verified references, also Pope Leo XIII's Encyclical on the study of the Holy Scriptures.
